Northeastern University
Seattle

October 2nd, 2024

Re: Luis Sarmiento

To Whom It May Concern:

Luis was one of my students during a month-long Summer School in Sydney, Australia, focused on software engineering and data analytics.

Luis was a joy to have as a student in the program. He was engaged, worked hard and delivered excellent assignments. He was able to quickly learn new programming languages and cloud based analysis tools. As part of a project team, he diligently worked on his deliverables and contributed to a productive team environment.

In general, Luis was an active participant in the academic, cultural and social activities. He is sociable, fun and dedicated to learning. I highly recommend him for Coop and internship opportunities with your company.

If any further information is needed, please contact me.

Sincerely,

Ian Gorton, Professor and Director
Professor and Director,
Khoury College of Computer Sciences,
Northeastern University, Seattle Campus
401 Terry Ave N, Seattle WA 98109,
412 313 1168
I.gorton@northeastern.edu